ABOUT

Mixed-media on canvas by Kezban Arca Batibeki, titled "Dark Red". A large-scale dynamic composition of overlapping female figures in stylized confrontation. The work is defined by tactile surfaces: textured acrylic, sequin embroidery, and stitched elements. Signed and dated 2010 on the verso. Presented in a black frame, in great condition.

Kezban Arca Batibeki (b. 1956) is a Turkish contemporary artist known for her multimedia works exploring femininity, identity, and visual culture. Trained in graphic design and film, she combines painting, photography, and hand-applied ornamentation to question representation and desire in modern society. Her work has been exhibited widely across Europe and the Middle East and is included in major institutional collections.
